ACTIONABLE MESSAGING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Techniques for actionable messaging are provided. A message is sent to a device that outlines possible actions. Information for the message and action is stored and used when a response message is received. A user can then respond with a message specifying a desired action. The stored information is used to determine the action to perform and the action is performed.

60001645 v1

Client Reference No.: OID-2003-118-01